

Assuage;

I have promised to assuage your disability, which happens to be my strength.

In this convergence,

I can hear my fatal complex pulsating in the royal blue of you.

I can Be your conduit, listen to what you only hear with touch.

I experience a kind of anomie in wandering if I can be heard with your disability.

LOOKING AT:

Royal Blue as the throat chakra representing communication, a connection with the sacred/spirit. Royal Blue can mean that one isn't speaking the truth -- a color that causes one to be almost locked in.

Convergence along with this chakra are suggesting an energetic phenomena within the position of the characters of this writing.

"Fatal Complex" as a misspelling of the "Father Complex". She is referring to him as her father, but fatally because he is not.

Pulsating is referencing to her weakness, that being her heart -- more specifically, the energetic center of her heart chakra, which represents:

Pulsating also refers to a sensuous movement, giving a heartbeat/life to the writing. Also, the heartbeat refers to this position as one that generates life. A sort of relay between two people who are working as each other's prosthetics.

Conduit as a word that relates to a faucet. There is an underlining of a religious sort of beg in her voice. Faucet as in being
