

In order to understand me,
we're gonna have to take a process of un-understanding to stand.

You have to unlearn
to learn;
you have to un do
to do(?).

As you act on this,
you're gonna learn that you are dictated by language.

Language is the way that we relate.
And we ate
that relation
when we ate
the nation
of relaxation.

And as you follow my words, we enter a labyrinth of riddles that don't really cause you to connect, or have a cohesive feeling in the way that you are manipulated by my words.

Are they my words?
Or are you seated deeply rooted in the fact that language has made you.

Language even dictates what it isn't to dictate(!);
it controls the things that it doesn't even take part in.

So when you take a part
my art,
you then learn that rats or that acts;
in the goal of the seed of the hole and I breathe and I eat and I am and
and and then I end and in the ending of your or then you are
